

Dear my best friend from high school,

How have you been? I'm really sorry that I haven't been in touch with you for such a long time. The thing is I've been quite low for a long time and didn't have confidence to get in touch with you. I was also afraid that you have changed a lot. I still follow you on Instagram.

When we were at your apartment. You had that half smile that you ~~see~~ always wear when your ~~is~~ ~~not~~ not talking (which is a rare moment!). It's the kind of smile that knows what others think of you and doesn't care.

And I would have never seen a Hollywood star. Shiny white grin which ~~can~~ caught the camera in moments of awe and disbelief.

I wish you luck in your life and hope one day that our family will be reconnected. Some day I will always remember you were in my life. But I must do me for a change.

good bye my friend

And there is always so much comparing of things - between ourselves and others.
What have they got - What have they done. Always a need to have more - do more.
It seems to be - the nature of things.
Anyway - I'm not surprised you don't know what you're doing. Nobody does.

Best wishes, Anneli
